THE Year of the Greatest Norwich Celebration Is Advancing.

The short Spring painting season will be all too short to brighten up the 4500 homes of the city. Those who begin early will escape the dust and filth of Summer.

The SHERWIN-WILLIAMS line is the best because it has the greatest variety of tints to choose; it has greater penetrating qualities; it is mixed with the right consistency to leave a sufficient protective coat on the wood; the colors are permanent.

DR. WHITTEMORE'S ADDRESS
AT FIRST BAPTIST.
Spoke on Links in a Chain of Gold to Appreciative Audience.

The address by Rev. George P. Whittemore, Ph.D., of Middletown, Conn., at the First Baptist church, on Monday evening drew a large and appreciative audience. The speaker took for his subject Links in a Chain of Gold, and held the attention of all.

In introducing his address Dr. Whittemore referred to a prevalent sentiment that a minister was to be judged in a public way, but to preach, and that from the pulpit nothing should be spoken but serene religion deals with facts; indeed, religion is life and life is religion; and the minister who does to nothing but preach is doing but half his work, and the church that endeavors to limit its pulpit to sermons loses an opportunity and falls in its failure to give the greatest gift of life, and it is the duty of every one to live that the world may be better for his having.

Both the lecturer and the church, those who come after him. This statement was a question, for we live as though life was limited as to time and empty as to responsibility. But what are we willing to receive in exchange for life?

Announcing his subject, Links in a Chain of Gold, the speaker traced the development of child life. Every child has its right to be well born and to be instructed the law of transmission of characteristics by heredity by giving the child the best possible environment and the manifestation of character in national life, racial life—the Scotch, Irish and Anglo-Saxon.

Much of the lecture lingered about childhood. With force and persuasion the lecturer laid emphasis upon the fact that the child is the place of growing powers, being able in early years to grasp the meaning of eternal verities in a way that the older, amid his doubts, cannot do.

Little by little the hearers were led through a course of reasoning that each was following a chain, the golden chain of life, which was not life still it could match the divine definition, this is life to know God and Jesus Christ, whom he has sent.

The lecture abounded with sense and fact. Humor was made the handmaiden of truth, this being Dr. Whittemore's first appearance in the city.

Speakers for Anniversary Celebration

Committee on Literary Exercises Secure President Garfield of Williams College and Supreme Court Justice Samuel O. Prentice—What They Will Speak On.

Six months from Sunday and Monday, on the 7th and 8th of September, Norwich will be celebrating its 25th anniversary of its settlement, and in preparation for that the several committees which were selected months ago have been quietly at work shaping their part of the work into shape for the successful carrying out of the celebration. It is planned to make it the greatest celebration Norwich ever had, which means that every committee has that there will need be no mad rush as the time draws near, although the committees whose work will increase as the time approaches are well prepared.

It is stated that the committee having charge of the literary exercises of the two hundred and fifteen anniversary of the settlement of Norwich have secured for the two principal addresses, President Harry A. Garfield of Williams college and Hon. Samuel O. Prentice, judge of the supreme court of the state of Connecticut.

President Garfield is a descendant of the two founders of the town—Rev. James Rich and Major John Mason. His address will review the early days of the colony.

Judge Prentice spent his early life in Preston, graduated at the Norwich Free Academy and has been thoroughly familiar with the later development and history of the town of which he will speak.

The committee are greatly pleased with the fact that such men for the historical addresses and with the heartiness with which their invitation has been accepted.

Judge Prentice was born in North Stonington, Conn., August 8, 1856, the son of Chester S. and Lucy Cray Prentice. He was educated at the Norwich Free Academy, graduating in 1879. Later he attended Yale, graduating in 1883, and two years later graduated from the Yale law school.

He was then admitted as an attorney at New Haven. For several years he was Hartford city attorney, and was chairman of the republican town committee. He was executive secretary while Morgan G. Bulkeley was governor of the state that received his appointment to take a position as judge of the superior court, July 1, 1899. He was assigned to the city of Norwich in 1901, when a vacancy was made by the resignation of Chief Justice Andrews.

AT BROADWAY THEATER.
The Traveling Salesman.
The Traveling Salesman, a whole comedy in four acts, by James Forbes, gave the large audience at the Broadway theater Monday evening an evening of pleasure, every one of the four acts being thoroughly enjoyed, the story being in the line of probability and the experiences of many were gathered together under one hand with most satisfactory results. It was amusing and kept the audience in laughter most of the time.

Herbert Corbitt, who has been seen here before with favor, carried the title role and he made good from the start. His work was exceptionally good and not overdone, as frequently happens in roles which permit of so much latitude. Rosalind Coghlan played the part of Beth Elliott, in which she was grand. She gave a finished presentation and aroused a deep interest in her welfare with her winning ways and features.

Diana Hunter as Mrs. Babbitt, a town gossip with an uncontrollable tongue, had a character part which she handled admirably. William Robert Daly had a role for which he was admirable, the third act being decidedly good. Lawrence, who played the part of the traveling salesman, was a master and Buck Sheper, the waiter, pleased. The other members of the company were well selected and gave good support. The children added much life to the first act.

Visited Insane Hospital. Representative Martin of Stonington was in Norwich Saturday. During his stay here he visited the Norwich hospital for the insane. He is a member of the appropriate committee at the general assembly, and was shown about the institution by Superintendent F. P. Fulk, who explained the growth and need of the institution.

THE FIRST SIGN IS GENERALLY IN THE BACK
Relieved by this Simple Mixture Which Anyone Can Prepare.

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here; also bladder trouble and rheumatism. An authority once stated that pain in the back, loin or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only vegetable treatment should be adopted and absolutely no strongly alcoholic medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recognized as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can use them: Compound Kanchone, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This prescription is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys, so they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and there will no longer be a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying and may prove just what many people have need.
